Hon. CHARLES J. NOYES, Speaker of the House of Representatives :

I have the honor to submit to the General Court, herewith enclosed, the annual report of this department.

Very respectfully,

A. J. WATERMAN,
Attorney-General.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT, COMMONWEALTH BUILDING,
BOSTON, Oct. 1, 1887.

To the Honorable Speaker of the House of Representatives :

In accordance with section 9 of chapter 17 of the Public Statutes, I have the honor to submit to the General Court so much of the annual report of this department as relates to the work therein prior to October 1st. The tables and lists of cases, and a description thereof, are made up for the full year, and will be found upon pages 18 and 19.

During the year I have attended to the disposition of the following cases in the Supreme Judicial Court, in which the prisoners were charged with the crime of murder :—

IN THE COUNTY OF MIDDLESEX.

At East Cambridge, on June 21, the trial of James E. Nowlin of Somerville, for the killing of George A. Codman at Somerville, on the 4th of January, 1887. Justices Field and William Allen presided.

The facts of the crime—one of the most atrocious, all things considered, of any in the history of Middlesex County—are briefly as follows :—

Upon the 4th and 5th of January, 1887, there were found distributed for some considerable distance along the road leading to Lexington, the bloody clothing and the dismembered parts of a human body ; the head being in one place, the trunk in another, the legs and arms in still other places, and bloody clothing in a yet different place. James E. Nowlin, who was employed by George A. Codman in the conduct of his milk business, was suspected and finally arrested. Nowlin was only 17 years of age, and at first it was thought impossible that one so young should have committed so fearful a crime; but the police were of a different opinion, as they knew him to be of a vicious disposition. At first Nowlin made several statements denying the commission of the crime and implicating others, all of which were contradictory, and finally made a full confession, in which he acknowledged that he alone committed the crime. Nowlin was sufficiently acquainted with Codman's business to know that he had, at certain times, large sums of money about him, and it appears that it was his desire to obtain this money that led him to the commission of this crime. He lay in wait for Codman in his barn, and there, with an immense butcher knife, attacked Codman wholly unawares, and at the first thrust cut his throat almost from ear to ear. Codman had just life enough to cry out, "Don't, Ed!" Nowlin then, to make sure of his work, struck Codman many blows on the head with an axe. He then hewed him to pieces and hid the dismembered parts in a blanket under a pung. After endeavoring to conceal the evidence of his crime, he proceeded to perform his regular duties in the delivery of the milk. After that, and the eating of a good dinner, he returned to the stable and mutilated the body in various ways, for the purpose of preventing identification. He had found little money upon Codman's person, but taking his keys he coolly went to his house and said Codman had sent him for his money, and succeeded in obtaining $295. He then returned to the barn, and placing the various parts of the body in the pung, drove rapidly toward Lexington, distributing the body as found the next day.

The government claimed that the murder was committed for the sake of robbing Codman; that Nowlin went to the stable on the night of the 3d of January intending to commit the crime; that after the crime was committed the clothing was destroyed, and the terrible mutilation made, for the purpose of concealing the crime.

The defence was insanity. It was claimed that Nowlin had, from time to time, shown symptoms of insanity, and that he had inherited it from his family; and evidence upon this point was introduced, it appearing in evidence that his father hung himself while in prison, and that some of his relations were known as “queer.”

The trial lasted for four days, and ended on the night of the fourth day at ten o'clock, at which time the jury returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree.

On July 6, 1887, the prisoner was sentenced to be hung on Friday, January 20, 1888.

The case was ably conducted for the defence by H. E. Fales and Charles C. Mellen, Esqs. District-Attorney William Stevens assisted me, and he and the officers who prepared the case for trial deserve much credit.

The other murder cases pending at the time of the last annual report of this department have been disposed of as follows : —

Patrick McDonald of Athol, Worcester County, for the murder of his wife, Margaret McDonald, with an axe, on August 18, 1886. Plea of guilty of murder in the second degree accepted. Prisoner sentenced to State prison for life.

Abram J. Lamb, alias Sarah B. Wheaton, and Mary B. Eliot, all of Boston, Suffolk County, for the murder of Abram J. Lamb, alias the younger of that name, by poison, on October 16, 1886. Prisoners discharged; evidence insufficient.

Emil F. Kempf of Boston, Suffolk County, for the murder of George F. Emmons, with a knife, November 25, 1886. Plea of guilty of murder in the second degree accepted. Prisoner sentenced to State prison for life.

William B. O'Connor, otherwise Jockey Connor, of Lawrence, Essex County, for the murder of Hannah Langan, with an axe, July 25, 1886. Plea of guilty of murder in the second degree accepted. Prisoner sentenced to State prison for life.

Samuel Mitchell of Lynn, Essex County, for the murder of Ada Tyler, on the 22d of January, 1887, with a razor. Plea of guilty of murder in the second degree accepted. Prisoner sentenced to State prison for life.

The case of the Attorney-General ex rel. Treasurer v. Western Union Telegraph Company is one of the most important which has required the attention of the department, and because of its far-reaching effects a brief summary of its main features is here given.

The suit of the Attorney-General was originally brought by information at the relation of the Treasurer in the Supreme Judicial Court, and was for the non-payment of the corporation tax assessed upon the Western Union Telegraph Company.

The defendant corporation, being a foreign corporation, exercised its legal right by immediately removing the case to the United States Circuit Court for the Massachusetts district, in which court the case came on, and was duly argued by Harvey N. Shepard, Esq., Assistant Attorney-General for the Commonwealth, and Hon. George S. Hale for the company. The point in issue, and raised by the defendant, had to do with the manner of the assessment of the tax, which had to do with the amount thereof.

The position taken by the defendant is that this tax, levied under chapter 13 of the Public Statutes of Massachusetts, is illegal: first, because of its operation and effect upon a franchise granted by the United States, and used for its purposes and benefit; second, because it is a tax upon interstate or foreign commerce; third, because it is in effect levied upon real estate located and taxed in another State.

If the defendant's claim was allowed it would practically exempt this company, and other telegraph companies who have accepted the Act of Congress of July 24, 1866, from taxation not only in this State, but eventually in every State. Other points were made by the defendant, but this was the one the most relied upon. The case has not been decided.

Two cases,—Wesson v. Commonwealth and the Town of Milford v. Commonwealth,—both referred to in the last report of the department as of considerable interest, inasmuch as in their decision an interpretation, as to effect and limitation, of chapter 195 of the Public Statutes was necessary, have been finally decided. These cases were tried before three Judges of the Superior Court, sitting together, as provided in said chapter. The claims of the petitioner were disallowed, and the case was taken, on report, to the Supreme Judicial Court, where they were subsequently argued and decided in favor of the Commonwealth, the court saying that under this statute the claims which may be sued must be founded on a contract made by the Commonwealth for the payment of money, and that the statute did not give the court jurisdiction over all claims against the Commonwealth. (See 144 Mass., pp. 60 to 66.)

Section one of chapter 195 aforesaid was amended by chapter 246 of the Acts of 1887, so that the Superior Court now has jurisdiction of all claims against the Commonwealth, whether in law or in equity.

In accordance with the authority given me by chapter 214 of the Acts of 1886, for the publication of reports in capital trials, I have had prepared the proceedings in the trial of Thomas W. Piper for the murder of Mabel H. Young, the same having been published and distributed in accordance with the provisions of that chapter. The second volume of this series now being prepared, and partially in the hands of the printer, is the trial of Henry K. Goodwin for the murder of Albert D. Swan, in which the rule regarding the burden of proof in murder cases where insanity is the defence is changed, will, probably, be ready for distribution within a few months.

In August I attended, as representing the Commonwealth, the Inter-State Extradition Conference, held at the room of Association of the Bar of New York City. The conference remained in session three days and accomplished good work. A set of rules and regulations appertaining to the greater uniformity in matter of requisitions were drawn up and accepted. They have since been adopted by executive order in this Commonwealth, and probably in the several other States represented.

As these rules are few in number, and different in many particulars from the old rules, they are here printed :

RULES OF PRACTICE IN REQUISITION CASES.

Every application to the Governor for a requisition upon the executive authority of any other State or Territory, for the delivery up and return of any offender who has fled from the justice of this State, must be made by the district or prosecuting attorney for the county or district in which the offence was committed, and must be in duplicate original papers, or certified copies thereof.

The following must appear by the certificate of the district or prosecuting attorney:—

(a.) The full name of the person for whom extradition is asked, together with the name of the agent proposed, to be properly spelled.

(b.) That in his opinion the ends of public justice require that the alleged criminal be brought to this State for trial, at the public expense.

(c.) That he believes he has sufficient evidence to secure the conviction of the fugitive.

(d.) That the person named as agent is a proper person, and that he has no private interest in the arrest of the fugitive.

(e.) If there has been any former application for a requisition for the same person, growing out of the same transaction, it must be so stated, with an explanation of the reasons for a second request, together with the date of such application, as near as may be.

(f.) If the fugitive is known to be under either civil or criminal arrest in the State or Territory to which he is alleged to have fled, the fact of such arrest and the nature of the proceedings on which it is based must be stated.

(g.) That the application is not made for the purpose of enforcing the collection of a debt, or for any private purpose whatever, and that if the requisition applied for be granted, the criminal proceedings shall not be used for any of said objects.

(h.) The nature of the crime charged, with a reference, when practicable, to the particular statute defining and punishing the same.

(i.) If the offence charged is not of recent occurrence, a satisfactory reason must be given for the delay in making the application.

1. In all cases of fraud, false pretences, embezzlement or forgery, when made a crime by the common law, or any penal code or statute, the affidavit of the principal complaining witness or informant that the application is made in good faith, for the sole purpose of punishing the accused, and that he does not desire or expect to use the prosecution for the purpose of collecting a debt, or for any private purpose, and will not directly or indirectly use the same for any of said purposes, shall be required, or a sufficient reason given for the absence of such affidavit.

2. Proof by affidavit of facts and circumstances satisfying the Executive that the alleged criminal has fled from the justice of the State, and is in the State on whose Executive the demand is requested to be made, must be given. The fact that the alleged criminal was in the State where the alleged crime was committed at the time of the commission thereof, and is found in the State upon which the requisition was made, shall be sufficient evidence, in the absence of other proof, that he is a fugitive from justice.

3. If an indictment has been found, certified copies, in duplicate, must accompany the application.

4. If an indictment has not been found by a grand jury, the facts and circumstances showing the commission of the crime charged, and that the accused perpetrated the same, must be shown by affidavits taken before a magistrate (a notary public is not a magistrate within the meaning of the statutes). It must also be shown that a complaint has been made, copies of which must accompany the requisition, such complaint to be accompanied by affidavits to the facts constituting the offence charged by persons having actual knowledge thereof, and that a warrant has been issued, and duplicate certified copies of the same, together with the returns thereto, if any, must be furnished upon an application.

5. The official character of the officer taking the affidavits or depositions and of the officer who issued the warrant must be duly certified.

6. Upon the renewal of an application, — for example, on the ground that the fugitive has fled to another State, not having been found in the State on which the first was granted, — new or certified copies of papers, in conformity with the above rules, must be furnished.

7. In the case of any person who has been convicted of any crime, and escapes after conviction, or while serving his sentence, the application may be made by the jailer, sheriff or other officer having him in custody, and shall be accompanied by certified copies of the indictment or information, record of conviction and sentence upon which the person is held, with the affidavit of such person having him in custody, showing such escape, with the circumstances attending the same.

8. No requisition will be made for the extradition of any fugitive except in compliance with these rules.

Being about to retire from the office of the Attorney-General, after having had the honor of serving the Commonwealth in that capacity for nearly five years, I can with propriety recommend that the salaries of the officers in the department be increased. The work therein has and is materially increasing. Every year shows a greater volume of work, much of which is not and cannot well be noted in the annual report of the department. In 1879, when the general reduction of salaries of State officers was made, the salary of the Attorney-General was reduced from five thousand to four thousand dollars. In the case of all other officers whose salaries were reduced a corresponding increase has been had. I would recommend that the salary of the Attorney-General be fixed at the amount paid before the reduction of 1879, and that the salaries of the two assistants be, at least, twenty-five hundred and two thousand each, respectively. I would also recommend, as being a matter of need, that the assistant in the department known as Law Clerk be made a second assistant attorney-general, with the salary above noted. This change is of importance in that, at present, the law clerk, although fully competent so to do, cannot, as law clerk, well represent the department at all times in all the courts.

The collections of the year are large in amount, and were obtained from between forty and fifty different corporations and individuals. The total amount collected (for a more particular description of which see pp. 38 and 39, of this report) was $21,299.55. Of this amount $20,756.60 was received from corporations for taxes; $25 for fees, and $517.95 from insurance agents for taxes.

The department has been called upon to advise with the heads of other departments of the State government to an unusual extent during the year.

Harvey N. Shepard, Esq., and Henry A. Wyman, Esq., continued in the offices of Assistant Attorney-General and Law Clerk, and have rendered faithful and efficient service.

EDGAR J. SHERMAN,

Attorney-General.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT, COMMONWEALTH BUILDING,
BOSTON, Jan. 18, 1888.

To the Honorable Speaker of the House of Representatives :

In accordance with section 9 of chapter 17 of the Public Statutes, I have the honor to submit to the General Court so much of the annual report of this department as relates to the work therein since October 1st, 1887.

Of the indictments pending for murder at the time of my accession to this office, one has been tried. As the law now is, murder trials must be had before two or more of the justices of the Supreme Judicial Court at a stated or special jury term, or before the full court at a law term. Sarah J. Robinson was arrested August 11, 1886, at Somerville, in Middlesex County, on a complaint against her for murdering her son, William J. Robinson, by administering to him arsenic, and after examination was committed to jail, and at the February Term, 1887, of the Superior Court, the grand jury for said county returned an indictment against her for murder. Early in November last, upon consultation with the District Attorney, Hon. W. D. Stevens, and Messrs. Goodrich & Crane, counsel for Mrs. Robinson, and myself, His Honor Chief Justice Morton assigned Monday, the 12th of December, at East Cambridge, for her trial before Justices Field and Knowlton, of the Supreme Judicial Court; and the trial was had, as assigned, lasting six days, and the jury, without agreeing upon a verdict, after nearly twenty-four hours' deliberation, were discharged, and the prisoner remanded to jail, where she has been since her first arrest, being held upon this and the four other indictments pending against her for murder, found at the same term of Court. The sixth day of February next has been assigned for her trial upon one of the other of said indictments.

The law requires that trials for murder "shall be had as soon after the finding of the indictment as the other official duties of the justices admit," etc. I would suggest, in view of the increased and increasing duties of the justices of the Supreme Judicial Court, whether it would not be wise to change the law, so that murder trials may be had in the Superior Court. It seems to me that it would not endanger the rights of the prisoner, and trials would be much more readily obtained, and somewhat more economically conducted.

The following indictments for murder are now pending: —

Adolph A. Albrecht of Boston, Suffolk County, for the murder of Edward Flanigan, on the 28th of March, 1887, by shooting with a pistol.

Adolph A. Albrecht of Boston, Suffolk County, for the murder of David Lanahan, on the 28th of March, 1887, by shooting with a pistol.

Thomas Smith of Gloucester, Essex County, for the murder of Thomas A. Lomasney, on the 25th day of April, 1887, by drowning in harbor at Gloucester.

Annie Townes of Cambridge, Middlesex County, for the murder of Edward Townes, on November 16, 1886, by poisoning with arsenic.

Herbert I. Hoxie of New Bedford, Bristol County, for the murder of Herbert L. Woodward, otherwise Herbert L. Hoxie, by pushing him into the Acushnet River, on August 9, 1885, whereby he was drowned.

Sarah J. Robinson of Somerville, Middlesex County, for the murder of Thomas Arthur Freeman, on July 1, 1886, by poisoning with arsenic.

Sarah J. Robinson of Somerville, Middlesex County, for the murder of Prince Arthur Freeman, on June 20, 1885, by poisoning with arsenic.

Sarah J. Robinson of Somerville, Middlesex County, for the murder of Moses Williams, on July 1, 1882, by poisoning with arsenic.

Sarah J. Robinson of Somerville, Middlesex County, for the murder of Oliver Sleeper, on August 1, 1881, by poisoning with arsenic.

Sarah J. Robinson of Somerville, Middlesex County, for the murder of Lizzie A. Robinson, by poison, on February 1, 1886.

Sarah J. Robinson of Somerville, Middlesex County, for the murder of William J. Robinson, by poison, on August 9, 1886.

Savings Deposits. — My attention has been called to the interest the Commonwealth may have in deposits of long standing in the several savings banks, and under and by reason of the statute of 1887, chapter 319, it has been made to appear that there are probably sums to a large amount remaining in the savings banks upon which no interest is accumulating, and which, under the laws, rightfully belong to the Commonwealth. I suggest some legislation requiring all amounts, which have remained on deposit for more than twenty years unclaimed, to be paid into the treasury of the Commonwealth, to be held and used under such conditions as may be deemed best.

The suit of William Washburn v. the Commonwealth, brought in the Suffolk Superior Court, under chapter 246, Acts of 1887, involves the right of the plaintiff to recover on equitable grounds for certain services alleged to have been rendered at the request of a joint standing committee on the State House of the General Court of 1878. An appropriation of $1,050 was made by the Legislature of 1885, to settle the claim—that sum representing the value of plans of the petitioner actually taken and used — but the sum has not been accepted or paid, and the claimant now seeks equitable relief in his present proceeding. The cause will shortly be heard on demurrer.

A suit is now pending between the Commonwealth and the Troy and Boston Railroad Company, involving the collection of the annual rental of twelve thousand dollars due the State under an old lease of the Southern Vermont Railroad Company to the Troy and Boston Railroad Company, dated November 1, 1856.

Subsequent to the execution of the lease, the franchise and property of the Southern Vermont Railroad, with the rent reserved in said lease, was conveyed to the Troy and Greenfield Railroad Company. In 1860 the capital stock of the Southern Vermont Railroad Company, together with the rent reserved in said lease, were assigned in mortgage to the Commonwealth as security for advances of credit, etc. This mortgage was foreclosed, and in 1884 the Troy and Greenfield Railroad Company executed a release to the Commonwealth by which the title to the property became absolute in the State, subject to the lease and annual rental above described.

This rental was paid by the Troy and Boston Company until May, 1883, when for some alleged failure of lessor to perform certain conditions of the lease further payment was refused.

The suit is now pending in the Superior Court, Suffolk County.

The case of the Attorney-General ex. rel. Treasurer v. Western Union Telegraph Company, which my predecessor in office reports as pending in the Circuit Court of the United States, was decided on November 28, by Judge Colt, in favor of the Commonwealth, who decreed that an injunction should issue unless the tax was paid within thirty days. The defendant appealed the case to the Supreme Court of the United States, which vacates the decree of the Circuit Court.

As the case is one of importance, and as there are the taxes of three years already pending upon its decision, the department asked the Supreme Court of the United States to advance the case for a speedy hearing. Assistant Attorney-General Bliss went on to Washington and submitted the motion, and the case has been set down for February 13th next for argument.

I endorse the recommendation of my predecessor in office, that the assistant known as the Law Clerk be made a second Assistant Attorney-General, with at least the salary recommended by him. When I came into the office, Henry A. Wyman, Esq., was acting as Law Clerk, and I immediately reappointed him to that position. Harvey N. Shepard, Esq., the former Assistant Attorney-General, resigned with Attorney-General Sherman and declined to accept from me a reappointment, and Mr. Wyman ably performed all the duties of both Law Clerk and Assistant, till I appointed Henry C. Bliss, Esq., of Springfield to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Shepard's resignation.

Both Mr. Wyman and Mr. Bliss have rendered very valuable services in the business of the office.

Details of the work of the department for the whole year, with tables, are annexed.

ANDREW J. WATERMAN,
Attorney-General.
